closest you'll get to mario type 3d adventure game on steam!. Great concept. Still some glitches here and there and room for improvements but a game made by gamers for sure!. This was a charming little experience. You can tell a lot of much effort was put into the characters and their interactions. The music was very good, especially at the end.

However, be aware of what you're buying. This experience is most likely less than an hour for you. If the trailer catches your attention, it will deliver on it. If you're comfortable paying full price, you should be satisfied.. enjoyable game, has great music & story. just needs multiplayer and it'll be decent.. stay away from this game. i have an i75820k, 32 gigs of ddr4 and a gtx 1080, all hardware thats pretty new and compatible with everything. I rarely have issues that cant be fixed...

This game though..is broken. First I couldnt get it to launch even after doing everything the dev said and some other stuff. The games icon would pop up then close.

I bought the DLC at the same time like a fool because it has VR mode. That wouldnt launch either until today but it took some trickery to actually launch it.

Once I got in the main menu was all messed up and made no sense. Nothing seemed to work. I clicked settings and i got a bunch of blurry boxes...uhm ok.

Finally i managed to stumble into the actual game and just the first few min was enough to know its a subpar game. Visually boring with mediocre audio all around and the gameplay was tedious and just bad

This is a genre I LOVE. I will put up with alot of issues for a game in the genre but this game is just busted, You might get it to run but you wont want to.. I don't know who the targeted audience of this game is but my guess is teenage furies? The game isn't easy enough for little kids but it's not that difficult either. This is the type of game I would've played during recess back in middle school but then again I wouldn't have because you play as a cat fighting rats and ravens?

It's like a platformer for 10-18 year olds but with graphicsdesign for 4-10 year olds.

. If you remember and played "Evolution: The Game of Intelligent Life" from back in 1997 until it became unplayable on later PC's, this game attempts to recreate the wonder of discovering new species. Still a lot of work to be done but this is already heading in a nice direction.. I loved this game as a kid and had beat it several times and I remember it being a fairly buggy game but on steam it is virtually unplayable (almost entirely due to one jumping bug) for several early levels. I really like this game but would also like to be able to actualy progress in the story.

The game is really glitchy, the controls are annoying, and the movements makes me sick. I normally don't get sick from VR. I can play a good VR game for a solid four hours before needing a break; however, I got greatly sick within the first half hour of this game. I think it may have something to do with the slow turning. As a result, this game makes me mentally annoyed and physically sick. It's a good concept, but needs to be greatly polished.. Arguably the best poker game on steam currently, would highly recommend!. Nice oldschool challenging game. Empire Total War use to be my favorite pc game, even when I tried Company of Heros 2. But when I was browsing the store I came upon this mod/game. I was excited to try it out since The Great War was/is my favorite war (to learn about). At first I thought why is the British a faction and not France? I quickly forgot about it when I played my first battle. I was amazed and addicted to it, and when France becomes a faction to choose from in the future, I'm even more excited. This mod/game is my favorite game to play. Rating: 10/10. A simple game that challenges your imagination in a beautifully immersive way.. This game doesn't even work. There is a white bar across the screen and nothing loads. Please let me know when it's been fixed I do really wanna try it.. Haven't played many VR games yet, but so far this was a fun game with a good mix of things to do. Watermelon was a bit tricky, maybe it would help if it was closer?
