Source: Rotten Tomatoes The film has received mostly negative reviews by critics. However Film gave it a four out of ten at the box office, describing it as "a confusing mess of a movie with an interesting concept that's given very little screen time or depth. If the movie had actually focused more on its time traveling plot, it could have been a very compelling sci-fi thriller. As it stands, the movie is just another disappointing movie for Roland Emmerich's resume." On Metacritic, the film has a score of 33 based on reviews from five critics. International Business Times UK gave the film 1 out of 5 stars and states that "Roland Emmerich's latest bomb is comical bad."
